DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on June 26th, 2008 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 4-8, 10, 11, 14, 15, 17 and 20-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Martin (US Patent 5,672,175).

Martin discloses a device (Figures 1-12) comprising: a plurality biocompatible, shape memory, metal (Column 6, Lines 29-36 and Column 8, Line 64) springs (21a/b-24a/b) for generating a unidirectional force (magnitude determined pre- or intra-operation: Column 4, Lines 36-41) in either tension or compression (Column 5, Lines 62-65); the springs (21a/b-24a/b) being coiled (Column 5, Line 55 through Column 6, Line 13), leaf or other springs (Column 20, Lines 4-5); a first attachment means (1); second attachment means (3); a spring (21a/b-24a/b) placed between the attachment means (1 and 3); at least one of the attachment means including a base plate (55, 55a) and connecting means (29 and 10) which connects a free end (27) of a spring (21a/b-24a/b) to the base plate (55, 55a); the connecting means (29 and 10) having two locations for attaching to the base plate (above and below in relation to the spine being vertically orientated) either singly or in pairs; a mobile joint (sphere 8 with spherical housing 9 in cylinder 10; Column 9, Lines 37-42); a gripping means (35) that will allow motion of the spring in one axial direction and not the other in relation to an attachment means; and clamping means (29, 30, 31; Column 12, Lines 29-50) with a screw (32) to clamp and release.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3, 12, 18 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Martin.

Martin discloses all of the claimed limitations except is silent as to the upper unidirectional force being 200 N (the low end of 0 N is inherent to the nature of the device) and the spring being designed into the shape of a C or S.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the springs of Martin within the range of 0-200 N since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

It would have been further a matter of obvious design choice to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the springs of Martin in a C or S-shape, since applicant has not disclosed that such a shape solves any stated problem or is anything more than one of numerous shapes or configurations a person of ordinary skill in the art would find obvious for the purposes of providing a compression or extension force. In re Dailey and Eilers, 149 USPQ 47 (1966).

Response to Arguments

There were no arguments submitted in the response filed on June 26th, 2008.

Conclusion

All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
